INTRODUCTORY STATEMENT

HISTORY AND PURPOSES OF THE COLLEGE OF LAW

The College of Law of the University of Kentucky was organized under the provisions of an act of the legislature of the State of Kentucky passed in 1908 as one of the colleges of the State University. It was opened for the admission of students in September, 1908, and the first class graduated in June, 1910. The next session beginning September 19, 1927, will be the twentieth session of the College of Law. The school has always been open to men and women students.

Within four years after the organization of the school, it became a member of the Association of American Law Schools, and it has endeavored to advance steadily the ideals of legal education in the State. In 1921, the American Bar Association made certain recommendations for standard colleges of law, and in 1924 the College of Law of the University of Kentucky was placed on the approved list by the American Bar Association, and has been ranked since 1925 as a grade A law school. Beginning with the session of 1925-26, the College of Law required two years of college work for entrance. It is the purpose of the school to maintain the standards prescribed by the most competent authorities in the field of legal education in America and to give to the young men in this section of the country the opportunity to prepare themselves for the bar in the most thorough and scholarly way. It is believed that the lawyer can be worthy of the great profession he represents only if he has had adequate preliminary education and a three-year intensive study of legal principles through the use of leading cases.

The course of study in the College of Law is the standard course of three years, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Laws.

The design of the College of Law is to train the student in the fundamental principles of English and American common law so as to equip him to practice his profession wherever that system of law prevails. As most of the students intend to practice in the State of Kentucky, special emphasis is placed on the decisions of that State, but only as representing the current of judicial authority or a dissent therefrom. The method used in all classes is the study of cases, the method of instruction followed in all the leading law schools of the country. Credit is obtained by the successful passing of written examinations at the end of each semester, and the student who successfully completes the course is awarded the degree of Bachelor of Laws.

The ideal held before the student body is the lawyer who is honored not only as a successful practitioner before the bar, but also as a useful citizen in his community. At no time has the lawyer enjoyed a larger opportunity to serve the cause of justice and good will through his professional skill and right motives than at present. It is the purpose of the College of Law to graduate only those who by reason of adequate preliminary education, diligence and ability in their professional studies in the law school and sound character are qualified to be lawyers in the highest sense of the term.

Instruction is not limited to those who choose the law as a profession, but is open also to students who desire to take the whole or a limited course in law as a preparation for business or public life. The study of law as it is now taught is recognized as an important part of a liberal education and as an excellent foundation for a career in financial or commercial circles.

MEMBERSHIP IN ASSOCIATION OF AMERICAN LAW SCHOOLS

The University of Kentucky College of Law is a member of the Association of American Law Schools, an association which has as its object the improvement of legal education in America and the adoption of the highest scholastic standards. It includes within its membership the leading law schools of the United States.

REQUIREMENTS OF THE AMERICAN BAR ASSOCIATION

The American Bar Association in 1921 adopted the following standards for law schools:

- a. It shall require as a condition of admission at least two years of study in a college.
- b. It shall require its students to pursue a course of three years' duration, if they devote substantially all of their working time to their studies, and a longer course, equivalent in the number of working hours, if they devote only part of their working time to their studies.
- c. It shall provide an adequate library available for the use of the students.
- d. It shall have among its teachers a sufficient number giving their entire time to the school to ensure actual personal acquaintance and influence with the whole student body.

As the University of Kentucky College of Law complies with these requirements, it has been placed on the list of approved law schools prepared by the American Bar Association as a grade A law school.

THE NEXT SESSION

The twentieth regular session of the College of Law will begin September 19, 1927, and close June 2, 1928.

ADMISSIONS

REGULAR STUDENTS

The applicant for admission to the law school must have, in addition to the standard high school course that will satisfy the general requirements for admission to the University, two years of college credit (sixty semester hours exclusive of gymnasium and military science).

SPECIAL STUDENTS

A limited number of persons who are over the age of twenty-one years may be admitted as special students. Their number is limited to ten per cent of the average number of entering students during the two preceding years. As special students are not eligible to receive a degree or other credit for the work done by them, it is the earnest advice of the law faculty that they take the time and courses required to fit them for entrance as regular students. Application for admission as a special student should be made in writing to the Registrar of the University at least ten days before the registration period.

ADVANCED STANDING

Applicants for admission for advanced standing in law for work done in law schools which are members of the Association of American Law Schools (or qualified to be members) must present to the registrar satisfactory certificates issued by the law schools in which the work was done. Such applicants may then be granted any advanced credits in law to which they are entitled, but in no event will credit be given for more than two years of law work done outside of this college, nor will any credit be given for work done in law schools which are not members, or qualified to be members, of the Association of American Law Schools. The applicant for advanced standing must be able to meet the entrance requirements of the College of Law.

PRE-LAW WORK

In order to meet the two years of college credit required for entrance, no special course is prescribed except six college credits in English. The credits obtained in the two years of college work that are required must be sufficient to entitle the holder to admission to the junior class in the College of Arts and Sciences of the University of Kentucky. The pre-law work may be taken at the University of Kentucky or at any standard university or college. Students who expect to study law are advised to lay special emphasis on courses in English, history, economics, public speaking, political science and psychology. Those who would like special advice concerning their work are invited to communicate with the dean.

COMBINED COURSE LEADING TO DEGREE OF A. B. AND LL. B.

Inasmuch as the requirements of the law school now call for a total of five years in college and law school before the degree of LL. B. can be obtained, the attention of the student is particularly called to the fact that with the addition of a single year, making six years in all, he can obtain the degree of Bachelor of Arts and also the degree of Bachelor of Laws. This combined course is open to all who enter the University of Kentucky in the junior class or earlier. The first year's work in law is credited towards the academic degree of A. B. as well as towards the law degree of LL. B. In his junior and senior years, the student will take the first year's work in law and will thus obtain the A. B. degree, and upon completing the two remaining years in law, he will be granted the degree of LL. B. thus obtaining both degrees in six years.

The following schedule is suggested for those students who are interested in taking the combined Arts-Law work:

REQUIREMENTS FOR GRADUATION, HONORS AND EXPENSES

DEGREE OF BACHELOR OF LAWS

The degree of Bachelor of Laws is awarded to the student who successfully completes all the required subjects, makes a total credit of 80 semester hours, and has a standing of 1 as defined in this bulletin, i. e., an average grade of "C." This requires an attendance of three academic years spent in law study and the completion of a course that embraces all the fundamental branches of the common law.

METHOD OF INSTRUCTION

The case method of instruction has been adopted, and the students are required to brief the cases assigned and report them in class recitations. No student will be permitted to take examinations in any subject until he presents his notebook containing the brief of each case assigned in the subject.

EXAMINATIONS

Credit is based on the successful passing of final examinations which are given in each subject at the close of each semester. These examinations are in writing and are designed to test the student's knowledge of the subject and his power to reason as a lawyer on problems of facts submitted to him.

GRADES

The marking system is as follows:

"A" denotes work of exceptionally high quality, as is valued at 3 points for each credit hour.

"B" denotes good work and is valued at 2 points for each credit hour.

"C" denotes fair work and is valued at 1 point for each credit hour.

"D" denotes unsatisfactory work and is valued at no points for each credit hour, but the credit hours of the course will count towards graduation, provided the student's standing is 1 or more, as explained below.

"E" denotes a failure and is valued at no points for each credit hour, and the credit hours of the course will not count towards the graduation requirements.

A credit represents one hour of recitation or lecture, or two hours of laboratory a week for one semester.

STANDING

The standing of a student is determined by the ratio of his total number of points obtained by his grades to his total number of credit hours scheduled by him during his course. If, for example, a student makes a credit of 80 hours with a grade of C in each course, he will have 80 points, which will mean a standing of 1. If he makes in these 80 hours a grade of B in each course, he will have 2 times 80 or 160 points, which will mean a standing of 2. If he makes in these 80 hours a grade of A in each course, he will have three times 80 or 240 points, which will mean a standing of 3, the highest possible standing.

In order to graduate a student must have a standing of 1, which means that his average grade throughout his course must be at least C.

GRADUATION HONORS

A student who has a standing of 2.6 or higher graduates with high distinction and a student who has a standing of 2.4 up to 2.6 graduates with distinction.

THE LAFFERTY MEDAL FOR SCHOLARSHIP

The Lafferty Medal for Scholarship, given by the alumni of the College of Law in honor of the late Judge William T. Lafferty, the founder of the College of Law and its beloved dean from 1908 until his death in 1922, is awarded to that member of the senior class who has the best general average for the three full years in the law school.

PRIZES

A number of prizes in the form of law books are awarded by the leading law publishing companies in the United States to the student in each class who does the most satisfactory work. In the course in Legal Research, a special prize of a valuable reference work is given to the student who makes the best average on the special examination given in the course. The Kentucky Law Journal occasionally gives a medal for exceptional work in research.

EXPENSES AND TUITION

There is no tuition, but an incidental fee is charged each student who is a resident of Kentucky, amounting to $35.00 each semester. The incidental fee to non-residents of Kentucky is $45.00 each semester.

The only other fees are: Student Activities Fee of $5.00, which admits the student to all athletic contests; the Health Service Fee of $1.00 and the class dues of $1.00.

The books required each year will cost about $40.00, but may frequently be bought second-hand at reduced prices. Board and lodging on and off the campus will range from $30.00 to $40.00 per month.

THE LAW COURSE

SESSIONS

The regular session of the law school is divided into two semesters, each of approximately 18 weeks. The first semester begins September 19, 1927, and ends January 28, 1928. The second semester begins January 30, 1928, and ends June 2, 1928. There is also a summer session, which begins immediately after the close of the second semester and covers approximately one-third of a year's work.

In addition, the candidate for graduation must pass the following subjects: Civil Procedure I and II, Equity I and II, Property III, Negotiable Instruments, Evidence, Private Corporations, Wills, Sales and Constitutional Law, and a sufficient number of other subjects to bring his total credits for three years to 80 semester hours. SUMMER SESSION

A limited number of courses in law are offered in the summer session of the University. The work in these courses is the same in kind and amount as that given in the same courses in the regular sessions of the school, and credit obtained in the summer session is counted towards a degree. The length of the school during the summer of 1927 will be ten weeks, and will be deemed to be equal to approximately one-third of the regular session.

The attention of students is directed to the fact that work done in the summer session may materially shorten the time required for the completion of the LL. B. degree. A student who begins his law work at the close of his sophomore year in June, 1927, by attending summer sessions for three years and also attending the regular sessions will obtain his law degree at the close of the summer session in 1929, or if he desires to obtain both the academic and law degrees he may do so in June, 1930. This saving of nine months in the case of the law degree alone and of approximately two years in the case of both degrees is accomplished without any sacrifice of standards or requirements. Students who are interested in the summer session should consult with the dean, as the particular subjects to be given are largely determined by the number of students applying for instruction therein.

GENERAL INFORMATION

LOCATION AND QUARTERS

The College of Law was for many years housed in the Natural Science Building on the University campus in Lexington, Kentucky. During the summer of 1926, the school moved into its new quarters, the Law Building, just opposite the Administration Building on the campus. The building contains a large library reading room, three large classrooms, offices for faculty members, a rest room for girl students and a smoking room for the men. The building is equipped with the latest furniture for law school purposes and adequately meets every need of the student body.

CASE METHOD OF INSTRUCTION

All courses are conducted on the case method of instruction. The student is required to brief carefully the cases assigned and then to report on them in class as a basis for criticism and argument. The class discussion is designed to determine what is the true rule of law that should govern the problem presented in one or more cases under discussion, and the student thus acquires not only a knowledge of the rules of law but also the ability to deal with legal problems as a lawyer must do.

SMALL CLASSES AND INDIVIDUAL INSTRUCTION

It is the policy of the law school to secure the largest amount of individual instruction compatible with the progress of the class. To this end, classes are not allowed to include more than fifty students, and the classroom work calls for the participation of a large number out of each class each day. The method of case book instruction in large classes can easily degenerate into a lecture by the instructor, interrupted occasionally by a few of the ablest students. The aim of each member of the faculty is to test out the reasoning powers of each member of the class by repeated cross-questioning in class from day to day. It is believed that such a plan creates more interest and is more stimulating to the student than the more formal lecture or discussion by the instructor alone.

PRACTICE COURT

The faculty of the College of Law feels that the training given in a law school is not completed unless the student acquires a knowledge of the fundamental points of actual practice. This is obtained by the introduction of the practice court, which is presided over by one or more of the professors. Each Saturday forenoon throughout the year, the court, regularly organized with a full corps of officers selected from the student body, sits to hear and adjudicate cases. No student is recommended for graduation unless his work in the practice court is satisfactory.

Students are required first to acquaint themselves with the various courts and the jurisdiction thereof. They will then be required to carry several default cases in common law and equity from the filing of the original papers to the conclusion. The next step will be the preparation and argument of contested cases, in which the problems connected with the preparation of pleadings, demurrers and motions will be experienced. In each case the attorneys will be required to look up the law thoroughly, debate their cases before special judges and file briefs. Most of these cases will be argued on demurrers, but a few cases involving contested issues of fact will be arranged. The more important cases will be appealed to a higher court, and in this way the student will become familiar with the elements of appellate procedure.

THE LAW LIBRARY

The library of the College of Law is an excellent working library, consisting of about 10,000 volumes. Among the standard reference books are the Corpus-Juris-Cyc. System, Ruling Case Law, and the best text books on each subject. The National Reporter System contains the reports of the highest courts of all states since the time of the publication of that system in 1885 to date, and the earlier reports of all the states prior to that date, with the exception of six states, are on the shelves. The Supreme Court Reports and the Federal Court Reports are complete. In addition, the library has the annotated reports embraced in the Trinity Series, the American Decisions, the American Reports and the American State Reports, and also the Lawyers' Reports Annotated and the American Law Reports. A complete set of the American Digest, Century Edition, and of the first and second Decennial Editions make this mass of case law readily available. The Federal Statutes Annotated and a complete set of the Kentucky Statutes and Code are on hand. There is a complete set of all the reported English cases from 1650 to the present time, in the form of the English Reprints and the modern official English Law Reports, together with Halsbury's Laws of England and the English Revised Reports. The collection of bound volumes of law journals from the leading law schools of America is believed to be one of the most complete in this section of the country and constitutes an invaluable reference aid to the law student. The library is kept up to date, and the current reports, law journals and the best textbooks are added as they are published. Each student is required to spend in the library a minimum of five hours each week in the afternoon or evening, and thus familiarize himself with law books and digests, and accustom himself to the thorough preparation for the classroom discussion of legal problems that can be made only in a law library.

KENTUCKY LAW JOURNAL.

The Kentucky Law Journal is a publication issued four times during the college year by the College of Law, and has for its chief purpose the dissemination of legal literature among law students and members of the bench and bar of the state. It contains contributions from leading law teachers and members of the bar both in and outside the state. This journal has been made the official organ of the Kentucky Bar Association.

The Journal is published under the supervision of a member of the faculty, and the board of editors is selected from the student body. Appointment to the editorial board is regarded by the students as the highest scholastic honor in the law school, and the editorial work affords the students a valuable opportunity for accurate legal analysis and discussion.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES

The law student, on satisfying the general eligibility requirements of the University, may compete for the various athletic and debating teams and publication boards. The attention of the student is particularly called to the law clubs, of which a number are organized each year for the discussion of legal problems and the argument of cases. The law students usually take a leading part in the forensic activities of the University.

Two national legal fraternities are represented at the College of Law, Clay Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta having been established in 1914 and Breckenridge Inn of Phi Delta Phi having been established in 1925. The law students are eligible for membership in the social fraternities on the campus.

The Henry Clay Law Society is a discussion club, open to all members of the student body, which holds bi-weekly debates on legal, economic and civic problems. The society has had an honorable history from the time the law school was first organized in 1908, and is at present organized in the form of a State Senate.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR PART-TIME EMPLOYMENT

The law course is designed to occupy the full working time of the student. In many cases, however, it is necessary that the law student earn part of his way through law school, and in such cases where the need is apparent the student is permitted to have outside employment. The city of Lexington through its business houses usually cooperates splendidly in making part-time positions available to students. It is the earnest advice of the law faculty, however, that all students who find it necessary to take a part-time position should reduce their classroom hours and lighten their law school work by taking courses in summer sessions or by spending more than three full years in the law school.

ADMISSION TO THE BAR

Admission to the bar in this state is regulated by statute which requires the Court of Appeals of Kentucky to make and adopt rules and regulations fixing the moral qualifications, standards of acquirement, both academic and legal, to entitle applicants to admission. Under the present rules, one committee hearing proof passes upon the moral character and fitness of applicants; their report, if favorable, may be rejected by either the Court or the Board of Examiners. If the report is accepted and the applicant has studied law for a period of at least two years, at least one year of which has been spent in a law school, he will be examined by the Board of Examiners on his knowledge of the law and their report will be made to the Court, and license granted if the report is favorable. Examinations will be in writing and are held three times a year.

PRIVILEGES

The law student as a student in the University of Kentucky is entitled to take such courses in other colleges of the University as he may think of value to him in preparing for a career as a lawyer, provided he satisfies the prerequisites for such courses. Among them may be mentioned logic, criminology, psychology and various courses in history and political science.

As a resident of Lexington, he will find in the courts of Fayette County, which are in continuous session, ample opportunity for observing litigation in civil and criminal law, and during the sessions of the Federal District Court he will have chances to observe the practical operations of the federal judicial system.

In addition, he will find that the people of Lexington, in the heart of the Blue Grass region of Kentucky, have a culture and hospitality that make the city an ideal place for the location of a University law school and give to the student a contact with life that is in itself an education.
